No Trade Bargaining On New Wheat Plans

many observations made on it by various spokesmen.

REPLIES RECEIVED

After the afternoon meeting, it was announced generally favorable replies to the question of minimum wheat export prices. These favorable replies, it was said, had come from both importing and exporting countries. These replies were announced as likewise generally favorable on the question of the denaturation of wheat and the lowering of the percentage of flour extraction from wheat.

As the assembly, representing fifteen nations, this morning started its second day's deliberations, M. Devant, the French delegate, formally proposed wheat exporting countries should be prepared to give commercial benefits in exchange for a reduction in the French wheat production.

TRADE AGREEMENT

France had trade agreements in mind, particularly since recent negotiations to end the tariff "warfare" with the United Kingdom broke down.

MEASURES SUGGESTED

This afternoon the conference came face to face with concrete measures to meet the expected world carry-over of 1,100,000,000 bushels on August 1, end of the present crop year. These measures were both schemes to increase consumption and to decrease production, all of course with the ultimate aim of raising the world price.

Under the head of increasing consumption came various plans, including denaturing of low grade wheat in order it may be absolutely restricted to use as food for livestock, and the requirement of a higher flour extract. Under the head of decreasing production there are other plans which also take in the possibility of a more rigid control of exports.

A minimum world export price was also down for consideration, and in itself this will provide much work for the delegates.

TENNIS ACE ENDS HIS LIFE

off the vessel there, intending to return home, but telegrams from Japanese authorities urging him to continue the trip led him to re-embark.

LETTER FOUND

Soon after the Hakkone Maru had sailed, Satoh was discovered to be missing. A hurried search was instituted. In his cabin was found a letter indicating he intended to take his own life. The liner was halted for several hours while a vain search for the body was made.

Despite Satoh's death, the other three members of the team, Hideo Nishimura, national champion; Jiro Fukukura and Jiro Yamaguchi, continued their voyage to Europe and the Davis Cup campaign.

GREAT PLAYER

Satoh was Japanese champion in 1931, but was succeeded last year by Ryoukei Nunoi, who in turn was defeated by Nishimura. A clever field general and fine court coverer, Satoh ranked with the greatest of the world's players for several years. He had been the pivotal member of the Japanese Davis Cup team since 1921.

Satoh twice visited the United States and played in the American singles championships both in 1932 and last year.

Twice he was ranked among the world's "first ten," selected annually by A. Wallis Myers, British authority on the game.

PROTEST CUT IN SALARY GRANTS

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, April 6.—At a special meeting last night the board of school trustees instructed the secretary to write the Minister of Education protesting the serious cuts in salary grants. The finance committee was empowered to make adjustments in the declared values of buildings and equipment. Leave was sanctioned for pupils who are taking part in forthcoming musical festival.

Labor Differences Seen In the U.S.

NRA IS STATED TO BE FAILING

That is Opinion of Major C. H. Douglas; British Monetary Reform Discussion

Canadian Press
Edmonton, April 6.—President Roosevelt's national recovery programme, as at present revealed, is doomed to failure, in the opinion of Major C. H. Douglas, financial reformer and apostle of plenty, who was in Edmonton today to keep a speaking engagement before the agricultural committee of the Provincial Legislature.

Major Douglas expressed interest in a cable from London telling of a demand for a parliamentary inquiry into Britain's monetary system and the modern paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty. This demand was made by an influential group of leaders in parliament, business and industry.

SECURITY SCORED

Major Douglas roundly scored the security policies of the Bank of England, headed by that man of mystery, Sir Montagu Norman. "In the House of Commons and in the House of Lords, financial circles there is a growing exasperation with the attitude of the Bank of England," declared Major Douglas. "To a very large extent this exasperation is based on exact knowledge but on the feeling that if the Bank of England has any policy, responsible opinion has the right to know it, which right has been denied by implication, by the Bank of England in its proceedings of the last few years."

"Behind this opinion are many well informed and influential people, notably members of such chambers of commerce as London and Southampton," Major Douglas continued.

CHANGES NEEDED

"These people are convinced radical changes are necessary and have taken all possible steps to make their opinion known and similar bodies who normally would be called by conservative and is, of course, reinforced from the other side of the house. There are growing numbers of bodies definitely committed to monetary reform. The situation requires additional point from the feeling that the present National Government inevitably will be replaced by a Labor government unless something constructive is done within a very short time," Major Douglas declared.

WOMAN TO FLY TO STRATOSPHERE

Mrs. Jean Piccard to Be Husband's Companion; to Start From Detroit

Canadian Press
Wilmington, Del., April 6.—An overnight flight into the stratosphere—with a woman in the big gondola's pilot seat and a tall, bespectacled man deep in study of scientific data—is to be undertaken this summer by the Piccards of Wilmington.

Mrs. Jean Piccard, wife of Dr. Jean Piccard, twin brother of the famous Belgian, Professor Auguste Piccard, who has twice ascended into the upper reaches, has disclosed tentative plans for the flight.

With herself as pilot, Mrs. Piccard said the trip would begin in or near Detroit, probably either in July or August.

There would be no attempt to smash any altitude records, Mrs. Piccard said, for they intended going aloft only about as high as did Lieutenant-Commander T. G. W. Settle and Major Chester Fordney last summer.

Wisconsin Auto Plant Strikes Settled, But Workers at Other Points Idle

Associated Press
Washington, April 6.—The federal automobile labor board had announced today settlement of strikes involving 4,600 employees at three Wisconsin plants of the Nash Motor Company. The settlement agreement calls for a wage increase of ten per cent and an hourly minimum of 50 cents for men and 44 cents for women.

A short time before announcement of the strike settlement, Edward P. McGraw, labor assistant to Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, had cancelled all engagements and left Washington for Detroit following reports of discontent because the automobile board was not acting with greater rapidity.

A shutdown of all commercial coal mines in Alabama, involving 15,000 miners, was voted by operators who declared it was "impossible" to pay the new wage scale of the bituminous coal code. They seek restoration of the differential between northern and southern states.

At Camden, N.J., demands by 3,000 striking shipyard workers for a 37½ per cent wage boost were met by an offer of the company of a six per cent increase, union leaders said. The New Jersey regional labor board sounded out strike leaders at the Campbell Soup Company on mediation.

HOSIERY STRIKE

Indianapolis, April 6.—A strike which union officials estimated would affect 3,000 employees in three Indianapolis mills was voted early today by members of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers.

The strikers demand the union wage scale, abolition of the bonus and penalty system, and "a saner policy of recording efficiency."

INDUSTRY IS SPEEDING UP

all over the country. A chemical engineer by profession, Mr. Holland organized the Holland Varnish Company Ltd. in 1910, and when this company was absorbed by International Paints Ltd. in 1928, he temporarily retired from business, but remained active in public life.

RELIEF HEAD

For two years, from 1932 to 1933, Mr. Holland was chairman of the Montreal Relief Commission, which at that time had control of 6,500 single men and 42,000 families, which, allowing an average of five to a family, totaled about a quarter of a million people.

The members of the relief commission during the time Mr. Holland was associated with it, gave their services without pay, but now a paid organization is in charge of relief. Some interesting figures were given by Mr. Holland this morning in connection with relief administration in Montreal during the period he was at the head of the organization.

Thirteen tons of beef stew were served out at a meal when it was of the menu and this would be alternated by one ton of fish fillets or three tons of a ton of hot dogs, with 1,800 loaves of bread and a quarter of a ton of jam.

In the winter a snowfall cost the City of Montreal $10,000 an inch in order to keep the streets clear. With an average snowfall of eight inches, therefore, the cost to the city was $80,000.

Due to the improved industrial conditions in the east and the opening up of spring and river navigation, the number of single men on relief in Montreal had now been reduced to about 3,500. Mr. Holland stated, with a considerable reduction in the number of families on relief.

Mr. Holland plans to remain in Victoria over the week-end.

INTERNATIONAL RUGBY ON AIR

Raegen McCrary, former Yale star, will share the microphone with Ted Husing in describing the rugby game between Cambridge University and Harvard over the Columbia network to-morrow, at 1 p.m. Pacific Standard Time. The match will be played on New York University's Ohio Field in Manhattan, inaugurating the British team's American tour, during which they will meet Princeton, Yale and an all-star aggregation of eastern players. English rugby has been taken up with great enthusiasm on this side of the Atlantic in recent years. The present trip of the Cambridge squad is expected to serve as a stimulant to the further development of the sport in the United States.

Stations in this district carrying the match are KVI, Tacoma, which will broadcast the entire match, and KOL, Seattle, and KSL, Salt Lake City, which will both transmit the second half.

Divorcee In Death Attempt

Mrs. Thalia Masse of U.S. Taken From Ship to Hospital in Genoa

Associated Press
Genoa, Italy, April 6.—Officers of the steamship Roma to-day said Mrs. Thalia Masse of Seattle, principal figure in the sensational Honolulu assault case of 1932, attempted suicide by slashing both wrists and throwing herself from the liner's top deck on the voyage from New York.

Prof. Dr. Borelli, director of the nervous ailments clinic in Genoa, where Mrs. Masse was taken after the ship's arrival Thursday, confirmed the officers' report.

The director said Mrs. Masse told him she attempted suicide when the husband was three days out from Genoa.

MONTH IN HOSPITAL

Dr. Borelli told the Associated Press women have to remain in the clinic from thirty to forty days before she could recover completely. Ship's officers said Mrs. Masse threw herself from the top deck, but they did not know whether she intended throwing herself into the sea or only on a lower deck.

Despite her fall of nearly twenty feet, Dr. Borelli said Mrs. Masse's physical injuries were not serious. He said her general physical condition was, in fact, good, but that she was extremely nervous and greatly depressed.

England-Australia Flight Completed

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters
Darwin, Australia, April 6.—Completing a flight from England in thirteen days, B. Rubens and K. Waller, Australian and English aviators, arrived today at this northern Australian outpost.

Their flight, which took far longer than the record of 6 days and 17 hours set by Captain T. P. Uim, was in the nature of a survey of the long route in preparation for the great London-to-Melbourne air race to be run in October in connection with the celebration of the centenary of Victoria State.

EMBARGOES TO AD PEACE

The latest French note to the British government, in which Paris demanded guarantees to enforce disarmament, was discussed at length by Sir John and the United States spokesmen.

Further particulars from Paris on the nature of guarantees France desires are expected by London over the week-end. These guarantees would mark the third step to make disarmament binding. The first step is supervision of armaments, agreed to by the United States, as well as Great Britain. The second is providing for consultation in the event of a breach accepted by Britain but not by the United States.

London holds that when such a consultation is held it would be soon enough to decide on any necessary measure to make against the violator. It is a treaty, Britain is willing to consider the third step establishing guarantee measures against violators.

"READJUSTMENT"

Paris, April 6.—An entirely new arms "limitation" conference was shown today to be a practical certainty by a French memorandum to Great Britain approved by the cabinet.

The brief communication shows France and Great Britain are in agreement on the necessity of an arms "readjustment" conference, since "disarmament" is dead.

Detailed methods of enforcing an arms treaty were promised later by the memorandum sent in response to London's request for more specific details on France's demand for safeguards from Britain if a pact is signed.

Under a convention as viewed by France, it was understood, German rearmament will be recognized. These conditions will mark the need of military aid, it was reported, by emphasizing three points by which disarmament might be enforced:

1. An economic blockade.

2. A financial blockade.

3. Diplomatic co-operation, leaving possible military enforcement until the last.

B.C. WATCHES U.S. SHINGLE INQUIRY

Washington Imports From This Province and Prices and Conditions of Production Are Being Investigated Under NRA

Associated Press
Seattle, April 6.—An investigation pertaining to the importation of red cedar shingles in Western Washington, ordered by President Roosevelt, is being carried out by a crew of government officers headed by Franklin H. Smith, in charge of United States tariff commission auditors, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association announced here today.

The inquiry is being made on recommendation of the National Recovery Administrator, Hugh S. Johnson, to whom single producers in Washington and Oregon complained that small mills in the Pacific Northwest were not able to meet competition of this area which normally sell their production through wholesalers had been the chief sufferers because of the increase in Canadian imports.

The reason for this, the mill men testified, "was that wholesalers could buy shingles in Canada at less than the U.S. price, as there was no tariff, and resell at the code price, the wholesaler making a great profit."

NO CODE IN CANADA
The minimum code price does not apply in Canada, but only in this country where made by a U.S. or foreign producer. Testimony at Washington by shingle manufacturers was to the effect that small mills in this country which normally sell their production through wholesalers had been the chief sufferers because of the increase in Canadian imports.

The reason for this, the mill men testified, "was that wholesalers could buy shingles in Canada at less than the U.S. price, as there was no tariff, and resell at the code price, the wholesaler making a great profit."

B.C. IS LOSING LUMBER TRADE

Washington Timber Men Say Logging Strike Benefits Them

Associated Press
Aberdeen, Wash., April 6.—Evidence of the far-reaching influence in Northwest lumber circles of the British Columbia logging strikes was noted here today after S. T. Tod, a manager of an export lumber company, moved his buying field to this area because of the absence of logs north of the border.

He declared the strike showed signs of being prolonged, many operators looking to no settlement until September or October. United States mills in the Pacific Northwest are profiting from the prolonged shutdown, picking up numerous export orders which the Canadian mills are unable to fill.

Robert M. Ingram, local lumberman, described the strike as "unprecedented," but of immense benefit to this district. The export lumber trade out of Grays Harbor has been excellent for many months and now looks to be even better.

There is a tremendous movement of Puget Sound logs to Canada, he reports, a situation which is upsetting the allocations of the lumber code authorities on log production.

P.T. Delegates Elect Leader

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 6.—Mrs. T. A. Barnard of Nanaimo was elected president of the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation today to succeed Mrs. A. E. Delmage. Mrs. J. A. Halbert of Vancouver was named vice-president.

The convention adjourned for luncheon with the remaining officers to be filled.

Among resolutions passed today was one which will petition the Department of Education to make the system of passing pupils into "high school" on the recommendation of the principal and without examinations general throughout the province. It was agreed the arrangement in Vancouver should be taken as a model.

In some outlying districts examinations were said to be compulsory, which delegates said worked an unnecessary hardship as well as expense.

British Soccer Head to Retire

Canadian Press
London, April 6.—British football will suffer a big loss by the retirement of Sir Frederick Wood, noted sportsman who has been secretary of the Football Association for the last forty years.

Sir Frederick said he had fixed any particular date to retire but he would certainly continue until after the cup final and end of the present season in month.

MOBS OF 3,000 IN CLASHES IN MINNEAPOLIS

NO MORE BOMBS

Finally, one patrolman, to the mob, shouted the throwing bombs had been a mistake. Some of the unemployed, many of whom red arm bands, shouted back wanted more bombs.

At that time twenty persons under arrest and four policemen saying he would not ask for an unidentified woman had slightly injured during the bomb ment.

During the lull, a man shouted "Let's sing America." Many in mob cheered.

Chief Johnson modified an statement on the National Guard saying he would not ask for an unidentified woman had slightly injured during the bomb ment.

When police attempted to disperse the mob that blocked traffic on streets surrounding the court with tear gas bombs, the mob's the bombs and hurled them back gas seeping into the building necessitating the closing of courts and many offices.

During the early part of the orders the city council was engaged in a bitter debate over the Labor Party's state platform call for a sweeping public ownership programme and ultimately defeated motion to take the demands of unemployed for increased pay, allowance and continuation of C.W.A. on a cash basis.

TEN POLICEMEN HURT

Of those injured, ten are policemen, badly beaten by the mob who seized paying blocks, scrap iron, even coal from passing trucks, missiles. Many other persons slightly hurt.

Mayor A. G. Bainbridge, whose office was the target for rocks, and sticks, which broke windows, been ill at his home for more a month.

The first brush with the law which an old woman on crutches hundreds of persons displaying arm bands were leading figures, quelled only after bottles, stones tear gas bombs were flung.

Urged All Teachers Of This Province Be Federation Members

Resolution Passed at Organization's Convention in Vancouver Sent For Consideration By Legislature

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 6.—Delegates to the British Columbia Teachers' Federation wound up their fifteenth annual convention here late yesterday with a resolution, which, if acted on by the Provincial Legislature, would make membership in the federation compulsory for all teachers in the province.

The resolution, submitted by the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association, the Victoria and District Teachers' Association, and the High School Teachers' Association of the Lower Mainland, was carried unanimously. It acted on by the Legislature, all teachers not members of the federation would be barred from teaching in elementary, junior high and senior schools in the province.

During yesterday's sessions of the convention four resolutions submitted by the Victoria and District Teachers' Association were adopted, and also one from the Comox District Association and one from Duncan.

VICTORIA SUGGESTIONS

The Victoria resolutions endorsed included:
1—Substitution of the junior high school course of literature in grades seven and eight for the course at present prescribed for those grades in elementary schools, and that the Canadian books of prose and poetry be supplied to the schools as free textbooks.

2—Disapproval of unsuitable French textbooks by Hedges for junior high schools suggested by senior high schools for use in the junior high grades.

3—Request to the Department of Education to eliminate such advanced grammar as may be thought advisable from the elementary schools to have it placed in the high schools.

4—That federation fees be reduced until such time as salaries are again at normal.

MODERN TRAINING

The Comox resolution asked that the convention recommend all teachers who have not been employed in the profession for ten years be required to take some training in modern educational methods before being permitted to resume teaching.

Duncan association asked that the federation make representations to the Department of Education whereby teachers of British Columbia be permitted to take subjects in the laboratory of the department, extra-murally. Credits so obtained would apply towards the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

ALBERTA PLANS TEACHERS' UNION

Calgary, April 6.—All teachers in Alberta would be compelled to join the Alberta Teachers' Alliance if a resolution, adopted at the annual convention here yesterday, meets with the approval of the Provincial Legislature. The resolution urges the government to secure legislation making membership in the A.T.A. compulsory for all teachers in the province.

BY-ELECTION IN ENGLAND SOON

London, April 6.—A stiff political fight is looked for in the North Ham-mer-smith by-election, necessitated by the death of Hon. Mary Pickford, Conservative, who captured the seat from Labor in the 1931 election.

Government leaders consider retention of this seat of vital importance. The constituency is largely composed of voters of the middle class and industrial element and the riding has a reputation for a rather fierce political outlook, having alternated between Conservative and Labor since 1924.

F. R. West, Labor candidate, was formerly Labor M.P. for North Kensington, where he lost his seat to a Conservative in the last election. Captain Percy Davies, Conservative candidate, is a former mayor of Deal and has done considerable public work in Kent County. E. P. Bramley, Communist, is also running, although he forfeited his deposit in 1931, and there is a possibility of a Liberal candidate.

British Fascists Start Campaign

London, April 6.—A supreme effort to popularize the black shirts of British Fascism will be made within the next few days by Sir Oswald Mosley, head of the party, it was revealed today.

The campaign will consist of a series of political meetings at which it will be declared the principles of Fascism are not out of keeping with the British temperament, and the aims of the group will be elucidated.

A California fish culturist, W. H. Shesley, raised a trout which lived to be nineteen years old.

METEORITE IN HIS HOUSE, SAYS MAN

Seattle, April 6.—A mysterious missile which crashed through a window and dented a wall in his home is believed by E. N. Tennant to have been a part of a meteor.

Tennant said the rock, weighing about a pound, was bluish in color streaked with red, and was warm when he picked it up.

Annapolis Has Apple Record

Canadian Press
Kentville, N.S., April 6.—Nova Scotia's famous fruit belt, the Annapolis valley, has come through with a record output for the 1933-34 season. The approximate commercial apple crop total, 2,750,000 barrels, according to figures released by the Dominion Atlantic Railway, which closed its "apple shipping books" March 31.

Besides creating a record for freight movement from the valley region to ports for shipments overseas, it is believed to be the biggest commercial apple production of any Canadian province.

A total of 7,933 carloads went forward to Halifax over the railway lines as compared with 3,139 the previous year. Three hundred carloads were shipped to Canadian points via Drury, compared with half that number last year. There was a net increase of 4,997 cars.

Port Williams, the valley port, shipped 434,973 barrels. From 500,000 barrels were used in manufacturing by-products and about 100,000 barrels were consumed on the local market.

Cherry Festival For Chilliwack

Chilliwack, B.C., April 6.—The board of trade will sponsor Chilliwack's eighth annual cherry carnival to be held Monday, July 2, it has been announced by the board executive. The growing season is early in the valley from the elementary schools to have it placed in the high schools.

ALASKA TOWN ELECTION

Cordova, Alaska, April 6.—(Associated Press)—Dr. W. H. Chase, yesterday was re-elected mayor for his eleventh term. The councilmen chosen are Roy Badden, Carl Edmond and William Liebe. Others elected are Harold Chadwick, treasurer, V. J. Swanberg, city clerk, and E. M. Jacobsen, school director.

Many Join in Lively British Gold Debate

Industrialists, Financiers and Poets Find Views on Standard Vary; Public Inquiry Into National Credit Schemes Suggested

London, April 6.—Industrialists, financiers and poets clashed on the question of the gold standards as it continued to hold popular interest in the press to-day.

T. S. Eliot, the poet, and Aldous Huxley, the novelist, together with other intellectuals rushed into the letter column of The London Times with the suggestion: "It would be of value to have a thorough public examination of some scheme of national credit, and of the possibility of individual certainty of adequate provision of the necessities of life."

Lord Melchett, industrial magnate, wrote: "Some ten years ago my father, the late Alfred Melchett, joined issue with the orthodox economists and predicted a return to gold would lead to far-reaching disastrous results."

REFORM ASKED

Suggesting the paradox of poverty amid plenty "which has marked the last few years" as the result of the tyranny of gold, a group of prominent British industrialists and financiers addressed an open letter to The Times, yesterday, asking Parliament to consider reform of the monetary system.

Bearing the signature of such men as Lord Sempill, Sir Maurice Jenks, Sir Geoffrey Clarke and Sir Stanley Machin, ex-president of the British Chamber of Commerce and of the Imperial Trade Council, the letter stated:

"We, in common with a large and rapidly-growing body of citizens, have come to the conclusion gold is not essential as a basis for the issue of national money, and nations should not be under obligation to make payments internationally with gold."

INDIA AND IRISH TRADE DISCUSSION

London, April 6.—Representatives of India and the Irish Free State met at India House here yesterday and opened negotiations for a trade treaty, the groundwork for which was laid during the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa.

The conversations are expected to last a fortnight. J. W. Dulanty, High Commissioner in London, with representatives of the Ministry of External Affairs, Ministry of Agriculture, are representing the Free State, while Sir George Rainy, former Minister of Commerce and Railways in India, and Sir Phupendra Mitra, Indian High Commissioner in London, represent India.

Canada-South Africa Trade Is Discussed

Montreal, April 6.—Interchange of goods between South Africa and Canada has undoubtedly increased as a result of the Ottawa agreements, but there is a pronounced disproportion in the amounts one accepts from the other, Wilfred J. Kennedy, chairman of the South African branch of the British Manufacturers' Association, said here to-day.

"Last year," he explained, "the union imported goods worth $10,000,000 from this Dominion, but Canada bought only $2,000,000 worth from South Africa. If Canadians expect to sell largely to the union, they will have to bring about a greater reciprocity."

WOULD DELAY INDUSTRY ACT

Calgary, April 6.—Alberta's new act to regulate industry and trade should not be made effective until similar legislation is adopted by the Dominion Government and other provinces. In the opinion of the Calgary Board of Trade.

"In a protest to Premier J. E. Brownlee, the board declared 'too much power would be invested in one man—the director of the act,' and also asserted that unless similar legislation was operative in other provinces, manufacturers and wholesalers could ship goods into Alberta at lower prices than provincial industries could supply under the act."

ANNOUNCES NEW MARKETING BOARD

Premier L. F. D. Tilley of New Brunswick
Saint John, N.B., April 6.—Appointment of the New Brunswick marketing board was announced here yesterday by Premier L. F. D. Tilley.

J. K. King of Fredericton, deputy minister of agriculture is the chairman. The other members are A. Neil McLean of Saint John and Burt Cuff of Centerville.

Felix Michaud of Buctouche has been named secretary. The marketing board, which will start functioning almost immediately, is provided for by act to promote the production, marketing and distribution of natural products, passed by the New Brunswick Legislature in March.

But with domestic demand reviving, and United States copper finding increasing outlets in foreign markets since devaluation of the dollar, the industry is looking up, although still operating at less than half of capacity.

Surplus stocks of copper are still well over a year's supply, but under the new code, it is expected fabricators will arrange to buy substantially all of the new current production, so that with expanded exports and increasing use at home, a fair inroad into the burdensome stocks may be made during 1934.

CODE FOR U.S. COPPER FIELD

New Labor Rules; Increase in Price Is Hope of Industry

By Claude A. Jagger, Associated Press
New York, April 6.—King Copper, still groggy from the blows of the depression, is preparing at last to submit to the registration of the National Recovery Administration, in the hope it will be good for him.

One of the last of the major basic material industries to agree, finally, on a code, it has decided, through the United States Copper Association, on a revised draft which has been sent to Washington, in the hope of early approval, possibly with some modifications.

The new code, it is understood, deals primarily with labor problems, and does not attempt rigid production control and price fixing. Nevertheless, an indirect effort to control prices, through provisions against "destructive competition," it is hoped, may bring the price up to around 9 cents a pound. The present price is 8 cents.

NEW TIE MILL IN OPERATION

First Logs Put Through Plant Situated on Banks of Somass River

Special to The Times
Port Alberni, April 6.—Wheels of Port Alberni's newest industry turned over for the first time Monday, when the first log was put through the tie mill built by R. Braley on the banks of the Somass River, near Lupat-Kupis.

Mr. Braley, who comes from Vancouver, has leased the land where the mill stands, and expects to keep the mill in operation for a long time to come. He has contracts for the supply of 5,000,000 feet of railway ties to the United Kingdom and the Orient, and in order to keep the supply up to demand he has three portable mills working in various parts of the district in conjunction with the main-guns here. One of these is at McCoy Lake, another at Cowley's, and a third farther up the valley.

Logs for the Port Alberni mill are floated down the river and the ties, when ready, will be moved by scow to the assembly wharf.

LEGATION MEMBERS SELL SWEEP TICKETS

Washington, April 6.—Officials here who played the Irish sweepstakes obtained their tickets through the legation, but altogether informants auspices of the Irish legation.

None of them won anything, but a young room clerk at the Mayflower hotel picked up $3,600.

THREE KILLERS OF PREMIER OF ROMANIA ARE CONVICTED; OTHERS ACQUITTED

Associated Press via Havas
Bucharest, Rumania, April 6.—Three men charged with having assassinated Premier Ian Duca of Rumania were found guilty by a court-martial yesterday and condemned to hard labor in prison for life. They are Constantinesco, Caranica and Belimace.

All others under suspicion of complicity were acquitted. The trial lasted eighteen days.

The sensational verdict was widely interpreted as a victory for the Fascist and anti-Semitic Iron Guard.

The actual killer, Nicholas Constantinesco, and his two confederates were alleged members of the Iron Guard.

It was pointed out in some quarters the gold problem is not one of Britain's chief anxieties at the moment. The advent of managed currency has permitted the exchequer to finish this fiscal year with a handsome budget surplus, and the government is now able to borrow money at less than 3 per cent.

ALASKA TOWN ELECTION

Cordova, Alaska, April 6.—(Associated Press)—Dr. W. H. Chase, yesterday was re-elected mayor for his eleventh term. The councilmen chosen are Roy Badden, Carl Edmond and William Liebe. Others elected are Harold Chadwick, treasurer, V. J. Swanberg, city clerk, and E. M. Jacobsen, school director.

Many Join in Lively British Gold Debate

Industrialists, Financiers and Poets Find Views on Standard Vary; Public Inquiry Into National Credit Schemes Suggested

London, April 6.—Industrialists, financiers and poets clashed on the question of the gold standards as it continued to hold popular interest in the press to-day.

T. S. Eliot, the poet, and Aldous Huxley, the novelist, together with other intellectuals rushed into the letter column of The London Times with the suggestion: "It would be of value to have a thorough public examination of some scheme of national credit, and of the possibility of individual certainty of adequate provision of the necessities of life."

Lord Melchett, industrial magnate, wrote: "Some ten years ago my father, the late Alfred Melchett, joined issue with the orthodox economists and predicted a return to gold would lead to far-reaching disastrous results."

Suggesting the paradox of poverty amid plenty "which has marked the last few years" as the result of the tyranny of gold, a group of prominent British industrialists and financiers addressed an open letter to The Times, yesterday, asking Parliament to consider reform of the monetary system.

Bearing the signature of such men as Lord Sempill, Sir Maurice Jenks, Sir Geoffrey Clarke and Sir Stanley Machin, ex-president of the British Chamber of Commerce and of the Imperial Trade Council, the letter stated:

"We, in common with a large and rapidly-growing body of citizens, have come to the conclusion gold is not essential as a basis for the issue of national money, and nations should not be under obligation to make payments internationally with gold."

"A system must, in our view, be established under which the issue and recall of currency and credit can be regulated on a rational, national, scientific basis, so that the correct number of money tokens shall be available to consumers to enable them to enjoy the output of production."

We appeal for immediate investigation by Parliament of the fundamental principles which should govern the monetary system with a view to its reform in the interest both of producers and consumers. There is no need to wait for international agreement since if Great Britain gives the lead, other countries will, we believe, find it in their own interest to follow."

It was pointed out in some quarters the gold problem is not one of Britain's chief anxieties at the moment. The advent of managed currency has permitted the exchequer to finish this fiscal year with a handsome budget surplus, and the government is now able to borrow money at less than 3 per cent.

"RATHER DISAPPOINTING"

THE OTHER DAY IN LONDON THE armament firm of Vickers Limited held its annual meeting and financial editors have been saying that the report presented by General Sir Herbert Lawrence, the chairman, was "rather disappointing."

The dispatch giving the account of the meeting tells us that several shareholders sought to learn how far the company was assisting in the re-armament of Europe; but the General apparently was unable to give any definite assurance that the company's products were not being secretly used for the re-armament of Germany and Austria. However, he was specific on the point that "nothing is done without the complete sanction and approval of the British government."

Sir Herbert, questioned by a number of shareholders, is reported to have declared emphatically that Vickers Limited was not a member of any international arms ring but, on the contrary, there was "the keenest competition to obtain orders from any country strengthening its defences." The rest of the dispatch furnishes its own commentary:

"Recalling the expulsion of A. V. Lander, a Vickers agent, from Turkey in 1933, another shareholder said that the publicity given the incident in the United States and the fact that Sir John Gilmour, Home Secretary, and Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary for the Colonies—were Vickers shareholders, had made the United States public deeply suspicious of the genuineness of Britain's disarmament policy."

"Sir Herbert replied that Lander had been an agent, not an employee, and, although of the highest character, 'apparently had a quarrel with high Turkish officials.'"

"The control of private armaments manufactured in Britain is far more potent than is generally believed," he added, "and the companies of the Vickers group do not participate in politics either in Britain or abroad and are neither directly nor indirectly under the control or influence of any British or foreign newspapers."

"Sir Herbert admitted that, despite the prohibition of the Versailles treaty, full-page advertisements of Vickers tanks had appeared in certain Berlin publications, but said that these had been intended for circulation among South American states where the British Press were not well represented and that the advertisements had now been discontinued."

BEST SELLERS

ONE OF THE TROUBLES WITH COL- lecting an elaborate set of statistics is that half of the time you can not figure out what they mean after you have them collected.

A list of the sixty-five best sellers in the American book market since 1875 was drawn up recently for the Institute of Arts and Sciences by Edward Weeks. And the longer one scrutinizes this cross-section of literary tastes the less confident he feels of drawing any deduction from it.

The all-time best seller, to begin with, is the Rev. Charles M. Sheldon's "In His Steps," which sold 8,000,000 copies. Second, fourth and fifth places are held by Gene Stratton Porter's books, "Freckles," "The Girl of the Limberlost," and "The Harvester." That old reliable, "Ben Hur," places third. Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" is sixth, closely followed by Harold Bell Wright's "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

And so it goes. That best of all western romances, Owen Wister's "The Virginian," is well towards the top; but a book like Mrs. Porter's "Lad- die" is ahead of it. Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," which competent critics have called the greatest of American novels, ranks high with a total sale of a million copies; but it is outclassed by such a book as "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew," by Margaret Sidney.

Non-fiction titles are fairly well represented. Edward Bellamy's famous "Looking Backward," for instance, has sold 500,000 copies, and Wells's "Outline of History," has sold 684,000; but "Pollyanna" has sold a round million, and "The Rosary" more than 900,000.

Trying to deduce anything from these figures is difficult. Good books are on the list in profusion; so are unutterably bad books, and a great many that are neither one nor the other.

We might argue that readers like a sugary optimism in their books, and support the argument by a citation of titles; but such books as "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "Main Street" are there on the list to refute us.

What does it all mean, then? Nothing much, probably. The reading public is pretty omnivorous. It devours good books and it devours trash.

DOES NOT LIKE OUR JAILS

ROBERT CRESS WAS ON TRIAL THE other day at Spokane, Wash., for theft, and he evidently does not like Canadian jails. Deputy Sheriff William Burnett said that when he interviewed Cress at Nelson, B. C., Cress begged to be taken back to the United States.

"Only a man who has done time in a Canadian prison knows what an American goes through," said Cress to Burnett.

Of course, a Canadian jail is hardly the place to which one would choose to go for a holiday. In this country, some consideration is paid to the persons who suffer through the misdeeds of others and not much to the criminal.

In recent years in the neighboring republic, the tendency has been to play the spotlight on the malefactor—as if he or she were superior to the clay of ordinary mortals.

"They don't fool with criminals in Canada." This is how an official of the United States Bureau of Investigation expressed himself when discussing the Cress case.

WILL PROBABLY BLOW OVER

ACCORDING TO PRESS DISPATCHES from Paris, it is generally believed in the French capital that plans for armed revolt are being prepared by both Royalists and Communists. It is said the secret service and police are hunting for hidden arsenals; but the editor of La Liberté, owned by former Premier Tardieu, says the hunt is "too late."

The people of France, particularly the people of Paris, are of a very mercurial temperament. There may be something in the report of a proposed uprising. It is true the Stavisky affair already has earned a unique place in the history of swindles on the grand scale. Several duels arising out of the controversy which it has caused in political and social circles have been fought—but, of course, no serious damage was done in either case. At the same time, a crisis over an incident of this kind, serious as it has become, should not create a revolution for the benefit of two elements who are only a small minority and who hate one another.

If the tempers of the Rightists and Leftists, however, should get out of hand sufficiently to precipitate an open revolt there will be one country that will figuratively rub its hands with glee, and that country is Germany. True, she may not be in a position to interfere with France under ordinary forms of warfare; but men like Hitler and Goering are stupid enough to contemplate some overt action.

NOT A POLITICAL QUESTION

SOME DAY, WE SUPPOSE, THERE will be a distinctive Canadian flag, says The Ottawa Journal, "but the matter isn't pressing," not "pressing enough to be taking up the time of the House of Commons; and it certainly isn't something that should be thrown into politics."

Our contemporary reminds us that Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa have their own flags, "and there's no very sound argument why Canada shouldn't have one." Of course not, and there is no reason why it should take up the time of the House of Commons longer than would be required to appoint a committee to call for designs for an emblem.

To look upon this as a political issue is absurd. It is a Canadian matter.

RUSSIAN AVIATION

"Little is known of the development of civil air services in Russia. Ambitious paper programmes are not evidence of achievement. But, supplementing existing information with some figures published in the current issue of 'Flight,' we probably have a fairly accurate idea of the progress since the start of the Five-Year Plan."—The Manchester Guardian.

In 1928, we are told, the length of Soviet air routes totalled 7,084 miles. Last year it had reached 26,000 miles. Imperial Airways runs to-day 14,000 miles. There are three main trunk routes, one from the border of Poland across the Continent to the Pacific, one from Leningrad to Afghanistan, and one from the Arctic Ocean to the frontiers of Turkey and Persia. Including subsidiary lines, Russia has to-day about fifty air routes. The number of passengers carried by air has risen from 7,000 in 1928 to 40,000 in the first eleven months of 1933. For comparison, the number carried by Imperial Airways in 1932 was 45,000.

The increase in the carriage of mail by air has also been marked. It has risen from sixty-four tons in 1928 to 454 tons in 1932 and to over 762 tons in seven months of 1933. Imperial Airways carried eighty-five tons from Great Britain last year. Apart from the regular services, Russia is developing the use of aircraft for many novel purposes.

Last year, says The Guardian, 345,000 acres of land—or more than half the area of Cheshire—were sown with seed from the air, and it is stated that for the "extermination of the malaria mosquito" and of "agricultural pests" nearly three million acres of land were "treated" from the air. Russia, with her great distances and vast flat plains, is excellently suited for rapid progress in aviation. She is evidently making good use of these opportunities.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A JOKE
The Ottawa Journal

We are hearing a lot these days about the going-on of Sir Oswald Mosley and his British Fascists. Mostly we imagine, it is just noise. Writing to The London Times, Mr. John Drinkwater, who ought to be a fairly good judge, says of Britain's young men:

"They may jeer at Parliament from habit, but the thought of supplanting it by the rule of a strong-lunged man, a mummer at the head of a gang of hobbledoys playing soldier, is a joke, not to be taken seriously outside of Bedlam."

WAR IN ALL BUT NAME
The Louisville Courier-Journal

Foreign capitals are speculating on when Russia and Japan will begin fighting. They are at war now. Though their troops have not clashed, they are maneuvering behind a front over 1,800 miles long, stretching from Lake Balkal to the Pacific Ocean, rushing work on rail lines of communication, buying and manufacturing equipment and munitions, hurrying troops and ordnance to the front, fortifying the frontier.

APPENDICITIS IN ANTARCTICA
The New York Times

For the next week or ten days the world's outstanding sick-bed patient will be J. A. Pelter, who is a serial cartographer with Admiral Byrd in Little America. He has just been operated on for acute appendicitis under difficult circumstances, though one can hardly say under primitive circumstances. The operating table was improvised, the sterile water was obtained from melting snow, the operating room was the shack of the broadcasting station. But the patient did have the benefit of a doctor, anesthesia, proper surgical instruments and the aseptic precautions of good modern practice.

Not so very long ago we had the authentic story of an emergency appendectomy carried out on board a small ship where the instrument employed was an ordinary kitchen knife.

NOTICE!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 400 words. It positively will not print lengthy communications.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them. Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed. These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of the Times.

SHIP MODEL EXHIBITION

To the Editor:—An accurately built model of a sailing ship of the days of oak and hemp, and swelling white sails, is a work of art and a joy for ever.

As one who is familiar with those wonderful collections of accurate models at the Royal United Service Institution in Whitehall, the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, and the Science Museum at South Kensington, I can strongly recommend at least one visit to the Thermopylae Club Loan Exhibition before it closes on Saturday, April 7, at 2:30 p.m. An hour spent viewing this collection will well repay any visitor to the transformed ballroom of the Crystal Palace.

While children are at home from school is a fine opportunity to take them to see these good ship models and thus introduce them to a hobby. For lovers of good pictures there are many first-class paintings, lithographs, engravings and etchings by well-known artists, each of which is described in the printed catalogue. Owing to the extra interest taken in the exhibition, the doors will be open on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and will not close until 10 p.m. after which 500 exhibits will be displayed to their owners in the homes and offices of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

MARRIAGE
Not wedding music and say, laughing mads,
Not misty veil above youth's shining braids,
Not vows solemn words or golden ring,
Not looks which start two blithe hearts flitting.
Not all of these have potency to make
A union so secure time cannot break
Its many times minute trial of circumstance
Or dark design of adverse change or chance.
Age, knows, and age alone, of the slow years
With common hopes and laughter, griefs and tears
Of lives so close that one has often
The other's wish, while it was but a thought.
Age knows of fierce rebellion crushed at length,
Of love that gains in tenderness and strength
As decades pass, of problems shared and
Age knows of these true marriage is evolved.

SIDE GLANCES

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
April 6, 1909
(From The Times Files)

The feature of the publicity rally in the Victoria Theatre last evening was the contribution in the interest and enthusiasm by the speeches made by C. C. Chapman, the well-known community advertising man of Portland, and E. McGaffey, who is now resident here, and the manager of the publicity campaign here.

The present season promises to see a large number of high class autos brought in the city and vicinity. E. Clark, the general manager of the Pimley Auto Company, reports a very active opening this season.

The Rubes and Jays of Seattle came over yesterday on the afternoon boat and went back again last night with the handsome bowling cup presented by the Victoria Bowling Association for the intercity matches played at the alley last evening between Seattle, Vancouver, New Westminster, the Capital and two other city teams.

During the trip of the C.P.R. steamer Princess May, which closed last night by arrival in this port from Skagway, the news of the world was received by wireless and bulletins twice a day for the benefit of the passengers. This service was much appreciated, as it kept away the monotony with the rest of the world all the time.

Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Dominion livestock commissioner, went over to Vancouver last evening.

TROUT FISHING AT SHAWNIGAN

Shawnigan Lake, April 6.—Trout fishing opened last Sunday at the lake. The fish taken were in very good condition. The yearly restocking with Kamloops and other varieties of trout fry for the last ten years or so has brought the lake back to its former status on the fisherman's calendar, thanks to the pay of the effort and the Malahat Board of Trade in getting a yearly supply of trout fry.

C. E. Copeland was among the first to cast his line over the lake and returned to Victoria with a fine mess of trout.

No Relief Increase; Unemployed Protest

Workmen Plan to Refuse Work in Saanich; Council Completes Plans for Inauguration of Constructive Works Scheme

Plans for the institution of a constructive works programme in which took form at yesterday evening's meeting of the municipal council, when decision was reached regarding the classification of the men to be employed and the relief wages to be paid. Coincident with the completion of the preliminary details, a move was instigated among a delegation of unemployed to attend the meeting to organize the Workers' Protective Association in Saanich, which, if its intention is carried out, will unite relief workers to refuse work under the new programme unless the council will adopt the 10 per cent increase allowed by the government for food allowances the $1 additional per month each dependent in a family. The workers yesterday evening decided to hold a meeting at 230 o'clock on Friday afternoon in Hampton Road to decide on future action. Meanwhile the council has laid its regulations for its programme, which is the first of a constructive nature to be introduced for the purpose of accomplishing definite works with relief labor. Expenditure of nearly $75,000 is involved and will be devoted to road improvements chiefly, a plan which has long needed attention in the municipality.

MUST WORK
Under the scheme endorsed by the council it is clearly evident that men are given the opportunity of putting in a full day's work in the municipality. For this they will receive the minimum relief allowance under the new plan and failure to work will result in their being struck off the relief lists. In cases where physical disabilities, they are given the full allowance, as provided.

In addition to assuring the municipality of an honest day's work from employees, the plan will also provide men with a chance to earn their relief allowance. If work is entirely satisfactory to the municipal engineer, who will have supervision of the works, their wages will be before the relief committee for approval to be allowed additional employment.

Many of the unemployed complained that some will be able to receive the full allowance without working for it, while others will be reduced or cut off if they do not satisfy the foreman. It is necessary to be obligated to some assurance that it will be of value for money spent in view of the amount of public funds involved in the plan. Men who are off will have the right of appeal to the relief committee, which have under the present system.

GATION HEARD
A delegation which interviewed the council consisted of thirty-two unemployed men. W. B. White, P. D. and C. N. Coe were among those who spoke.

White pointed out the government had passed an increase of 10 per cent in food allowances, together with a $1 increase for dependents, and the increased costs of living.

Is Unselfishness a Virtue? Dorothy Dix Says: Only If It Is Restrained

Unselfishness Is a Virtue That Is Easily Overdone; Toil Your Life Through For Other People and They Will Despise You—Give All to Your Children and You Will Turn Them Into Monsters of Ingratitude

IF THERE is one virtue that needs to be practiced with more restraint than any other, it is unselfishness. This is not the traditional way of looking at the subject. All moral teachings urge upon us the duty of self-abnegation. All literature celebrates the beauty of sacrifice and of subordinating oneself to others. Yet it is doubtful if any other vice has wrecked so many lives, ruined so many potentially good characters and broken so many hearts as unselfishness.

For the trouble with unselfishness is that it blights all who come within its baneful influence. No one seems to have sufficient strength to resist it, or backbone enough to stand up against it and fight it. Everybody succumbs to it and lets it do its evil work upon them and turn them into pigs and grabbers and petty tyrants. "When I would do good, evil is ever present with me," says the Good Book, and it must have been written of the unselfish who, with the noblest motives in the world, do more harm than malice itself could invent.

We see this illustrated everywhere: In business where the unselfish man, who always lets the other fellow have the best of the bargain, not only loses his own but other people's money. In friendship where the unselfish, who lend their automobiles, and take care of other people's children while they go to a party, and who run free hotels for deadbeat friends and acquaintances and who let everybody impose upon them, are never respected, or inspire any genuine affection, and are invariably dropped when they have served their purpose.

It is, however, in the family circle that unselfishness gets in its most deadly work. There it has its unhindered opportunity to work at close range upon its victims. For almost every domestic martyr is a goat that has offered himself or herself voluntarily as a sacrifice on the home altar. Practically every despotic husband, and every no-account wife are the handiwork of a self-sacrificing wife or husband. Every overbearing and ungrateful child has been made what he is by his unselfish parents.

When the average man gets married he expects to give and take in matrimony as he does in business, and if his wife insists upon her percentage of the profits and prerogatives of the matrimonial partnership he accords them to her freely and without question. He gives her as good clothes as he can afford. He takes her out with him to places of amusement. He assumes his part of the responsibility for bringing up the children and doing the chores about the home.

But if he marries a doormat woman who casts herself at his feet and improves him to walk over her, he also does that as a matter of course. He sets himself up as the he-who-must-be-obeyed in the house and she meekly does his bidding. He spends all the money on himself and dresses like a clothing advertisement, while she looks as if she had just been fished out of the ragbag. He leaves her to walk the cold and hear the children's lessons of an evening, while he goes forth into the bright lights. And the more of an evening, while his unselfishness is to make an egotist of her husband and in the end hand him over to some woman who has thought enough about herself to keep herself attractive looking.

And the unselfish husband has just as disastrous effect upon a wife. He shoulders all of the burden of matrimony and makes of her a parasite instead of a helpmeet. He has his old shoes patched so that she can have forty pairs of fancy pumps. He gets up with the children in the night so that she can have her beauty sleep. He works himself to death to do her up like the Queen of Sheba. And he turns the woman who could have been a good wife into a peevish, complaining nagger who is always whining because he does not make more money, and who never considers him or anybody else on earth but herself.

Then there are the unselfish mothers, those lovely, saintly creatures who are always being held up for our admiration. They are so selfless they never even think of themselves at all. They wear cotton underwear so that the baby may have real lace in its cap. They bake themselves on the kitchen range making three kinds of cake because Johnny likes angel food, and Mary will not eat anything but chocolate, and Sammy likes caramel. They deny themselves every pleasure so that their boys and girls can have money to fling away. They work their fingers to the bone so that their daughters may keep their hands soft and manicured.

They never demand the slightest consideration from their children. They never expect anything in the way of assistance from them. They teach their children to think of them only as drudges and servants that they do not even have to be polite to. They turn their children into monsters of selfishness who not only kick them out of the way when they can no longer serve them, but who are so arrogant, so undisciplined, so lacking in self-control that they cannot get along in the world until life undoes their mothers' teachings. Half of the failures and half of the divorces are directly traceable to unselfish mothers.

Nor are the sacrifices of unselfish children any better rewarded. I have known unselfish daughters to give up the men they loved because their mothers did not want them to leave them, and I have later heard the mothers reproach them for being old maids and burdens on them. And I have in mind the case of a talented young man who sacrificed the opportunity that would have brought him a fortune to stay and do a day laborer's work on the old farm. Yet had he considered his own desire and gone he would have been able to have given his parents every luxury instead of the poor living his sacrifices doled them all to.

This is not a plea for selfishness, which is an offensive and unlovely characteristic, but it is a warning not to overdo and turn a virtue into a vice.

APPEALS FOR CO-OPERATION

Support For Pattullo Plans Urged By Liberal President Re-elected to Office

An appeal for all members of the Liberal party and the electorate in general to get behind Premier Pattullo and the Liberal government in its drastic programme to lift British Columbia out of the depression was made at the annual meeting of the Victoria Liberal Association in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium yesterday evening by W. H. Kinsman, who was re-elected unanimously as president.

Premier Pattullo and his cabinet are to be congratulated on the start they have made," he said. "With the whole-hearted co-operation of our people, I am sure they will pull us through. It is not an easy task that faces them. They have many trials, but bear with them while they work out the programme they have laid down. Remember, they have the good of the people at heart and the legislation enacted at the session was for the benefit of the people as a whole."

UNANIMOUS SUPPORT
Mr. Kinsman headed the slate of officers which was re-elected by unanimous vote with a hearty vote of thanks for their work during the last year and the election campaign. The president was accorded a rousing ovation.

Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Premier Pattullo are the honorary presidents, the whole-hearted support of these leaders being indicated by prolonged applause.

Arthur H. Cox, re-elected as secretary, was accorded a special vote of thanks for his energetic work. The treasurer is E. E. Heath, and the representatives on the provincial executive are as follows: Carl W. Stocker, C. H. O'Halloran, Mrs. Julia de Blaquiere and Mrs. J. S. Akina.

The financial report showed a cash balance of $34.21 on the year's operations.

LARGE ATTENDANCE
Close to 800 people attended the meeting, which was marked by distinct enthusiasm, reference being made by the officers to the unusually high enrollment on the membership roster at the present time and the unanimity of the party with a federal election in the offing.

Seated on the platform with the president and secretary were: Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; Byron Johnson, M.P.P.; W. J. Asselstine, M.P.P.; Alan Chambers, J. B. Cleaver, C. J. McDowell and C. E. Whitney-Griffiths.

FLOWER SHOW AT METCHOSIN

The Spring Flower and Bulb Show to be held in the Community Hall at Metchosin on Tuesday afternoon promises to eclipse similar functions of former years. A plentiful supply of spring flowers are now showing in the district, and keen competition is anticipated for the possession of the handsome challenge cup presented by the M.D.C.C. The school children of the district are showing special interest in the competition for the challenge shield, also given by the M.D.C.C. An exhibit from the Dominion Experimental Farm at Sidney will be on view, and Professor Straigh will be in attendance. During the evening Mrs. J. M. Milne, vice-president of the M.D.C.C., will present the prizes, and selections will be rendered by the newly-formed choral section of the Community Club.

Earl and Countess of Bessborough Will Attend "The Yeomen of the Guard"

With Their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Countess of Bessborough in attendance, the opening performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Yeomen of the Guard" at the Royal Victoria this evening promises to be a gala event. The Governor-General and his consort, with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson will go on to the theatre after a dinner party at Government House.

The curtain will go up promptly at 8.30 o'clock on the first act of this delightful opera, which is in two acts, the setting being the Tower of London in the time of Henry VIII. It is an extremely picturesque scene, with the "beef-eaters" in their costumes of red and black; the court citizens in their silks and laces and feathered hats and the ladies in colorful village frocks.

Some of Sir Arthur Sullivan's finest music is contained in "The Yeomen of the Guard." Jack Point's plaintive song, "I have a Song to Sing," in which he is heard, first with Elsie Maynard, and in the last act, just before he falls dead, is one of the loveliest bits of music in the entire repertoire of these English masters of music. Then there is the quartette "Tower Tolls," which contains some delightful melody. The male chorus also has a number of rousing and tuneful numbers, which are sung with abandon and spontaneity.

RALPH MOORE WINS AWARD

Local Student Honored By National Research Council With $450 Bursary

RALPH G. D. MOORE
Further laurels have been conferred upon Ralph G. D. Moore, B.A., 3249 Quadra Street, graduate of Cloverdale School, Victoria High and Victoria College, and honors graduate at the University of British Columbia, with the reception of a $450 bursary from the National Research Council.

The Victoria student, who has enjoyed a distinguished career in the scholastic world, dating back to his days as a student in local institutions, recently won wide attention for his research work at the University of British Columbia on a compound aimed to combat tuberculosis. He is well known in city educational circles as a scholarship winner and the best wishes of those interested in biology and chemistry will go with the young student as he continues his valuable work at McGill University, Montreal, where he intends to follow up his study.

Mr. Moore was the only student at the U.B.C. who received an award from the Research Council this year. Twenty-six bursaries were given by the council this year. It was announced yesterday. Of the winners, ten intend to pursue their research work in chemistry, eight will study physics, one mathematical physics, one physiology and one mechanical engineering.

Keating

Under the auspices of the South Saanich Women's Institute a bridge party will be held in the Temperance Hall, Saturday evening.

In aid of the Mount Newton High School grounds Mrs. C. L. Styan, Central Saanich Road, recently entertained at a bridge party at her home.

First prize winners were Miss Nellie Styan and Fred Goodwin, second winners were Mrs. C. L. Styan and Nelson Goodwin. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. North, Mr. and Mrs. N. Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. N. Nunn (Vancouver), Mr. and Mrs. F. Goodwin, Mrs. Greenshaw and Miss E. Greenshaw (Vancouver), Mrs. C. L. Styan and Miss Nellie Styan.

They also advocated an eight-hour day for train crews in the camps, claiming these employees worked long extra hours without adequate return.

PRODUCTION SPEEDED
In addition to the argument that the cost of living has risen, the men also stated the production in logging camps had speeded up to such an extent in the last five years with the introduction of new machinery, that while a production of thirty-four cars a day for a gang was considered a record in 1928, the figure to-day had increased to sixty cars a day.

"It's simply a case of the machines pushing the men instead of the men pushing the machines," they declared.

The speakers claimed the figures of the logging operators themselves showed they should be able to pay the minimum wage demanded. Since 1928 wages had decreased by 40 per cent, but production had increased by 50 per cent, and the average selling price of logs was only 24 per cent lower, they said.

COMMISSIONERS-DEAR
On the basic wage of $3.20 a day, the men argued, a logger would receive only $47.50 clear at the end of the month. The rest would be deducted for board, income tax, medical fees and compensation. Furthermore, they said, the commissioners in the camps charged exorbitantly high prices for clothing and other articles, but the men were forced to buy there in many cases because they had no ready cash. In some cases clothing cost 20 per cent more in the commissaries than it could be obtained for by mail order from city stores, it was claimed.

The delegates said they received a favorable hearing from the industrial board.

RECALLS DAYS OF REBELLION
Bishop G. E. Lloyd Tells Rotarians of His Experiences in Riel Rebellion

The stirring days of the Riel Rebellion of 1885 were recalled to-day by Bishop G. E. Lloyd, former Anglican Bishop of Saskatchewan who delivered an interesting address before members of the Rotary Club at luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

Lloyd, who served during the Rebellion, referred to his personal experiences with the Indians and the Mounted Police in the northern portion of Canada.

It is just forty-nine years ago since those days, Bishop Lloyd recalled, the referred to the hardships which the Canadian troops suffered in their fights with the Indians, told how he and his comrades fought water and mud and were in the midst of Indian raids.

The famous Indian raid at Swift Current was really only a very mild affair, Bishop Lloyd said. A few old Indians half-starved having gone into the town and demanded bread from shopkeepers without having money to pay. The shopkeepers refused and that was the start of the raid, he said.

FINE SOLDIER
Colonel Otter, who played such a conspicuous part in the Riel Rebellion was referred to by the bishop as "one of the finest men Canada has ever had."

"The Mounted Police did wonderfully in those days," Bishop Lloyd said. There was only a handful of them but they did splendid work. If the province of Canada were policed entirely by this body of men, the law would be carried out to-day as it was in the days of the Riel Rebellion.

Poundmaker, one of the Indians leaders of the early days, was a fine specimen of a man, he said. He was six feet, three in height and the speaker likened him to Julius Caesar or some of the early Roman senators. Poundmaker was not a peace-maker, as many people seem to think, the Bishop said, but was the centre of all the Indian young bloods on his reserve forty miles west of Battleford. He always had a great deal of sympathy with the Indians, Bishop Lloyd said, "but in those days they were deliberately malicious. He told of the wilful acts of damage committed by the Indians along the banks of the Battle River.

"Don't put off until next year," advised Mr. Crisford. "It is now that you have your opportunity. If you can find work for even an hour or two for either a man or a woman, telephone the Employment Service of Canada and they will put you in touch with those who need it. The telephone numbers are Garden 2411 for men and Empire 1981 for women."

NEW GASOLINE PLAN IN U.S.
Washington, April 6.—A comprehensive plan to stabilize petroleum refinery operations and balance gasoline supply with demand had been submitted to the industry to-day by the United States petroleum administrative board.

Harold Ickes, oil administrator, announced the new proposal, but emphasized he had neither approved nor disapproved it. It was indicated that in the event a majority of the industry accepts it, the Secretary of the Interior would approve and then it would become a substitute for the

LOGGERS ASK $3.20 SCALE

Strikers Tell Industrial Board Forty Cents an Hour Minimum Needed

Representatives of striking loggers, who appeared before the Board of Industrial Relations yesterday, urged the minimum wage in logging camps be fixed at $3.20 a day, claiming the cost of living was such that this was the smallest amount they could accept.

F. Lundstrum and S. Skinner of the central strike committee in Vancouver, and S. Houston, representing the island group, appeared before the board submitting lengthy arguments to substantiate their claim.

The minimum is based upon 40 cents an hour for an eight-hour day. The men said they had no complaint against paying the $1.10 a day charges for board, providing it was good, if the $3.20 minimum were effected.

They also advocated an eight-hour day for train crews in the camps, claiming these employees worked long extra hours without adequate return.

Furthermore, they said, the commissioners in the camps charged exorbitantly high prices for clothing and other articles, but the men were forced to buy there in many cases because they had no ready cash. In some cases clothing cost 20 per cent more in the commissaries than it could be obtained for by mail order from city stores, it was claimed.

The delegates said they received a favorable hearing from the industrial board.

RECALLS DAYS OF REBELLION
Bishop G. E. Lloyd Tells Rotarians of His Experiences in Riel Rebellion

The stirring days of the Riel Rebellion of 1885 were recalled to-day by Bishop G. E. Lloyd, former Anglican Bishop of Saskatchewan who delivered an interesting address before members of the Rotary Club at luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

Lloyd, who served during the Rebellion, referred to his personal experiences with the Indians and the Mounted Police in the northern portion of Canada.

It is just forty-nine years ago since those days, Bishop Lloyd recalled, the referred to the hardships which the Canadian troops suffered in their fights with the Indians, told how he and his comrades fought water and mud and were in the midst of Indian raids.

The famous Indian raid at Swift Current was really only a very mild affair, Bishop Lloyd said. A few old Indians half-starved having gone into the town and demanded bread from shopkeepers without having money to pay. The shopkeepers refused and that was the start of the raid, he said.

FINE SOLDIER
Colonel Otter, who played such a conspicuous part in the Riel Rebellion was referred to by the bishop as "one of the finest men Canada has ever had."

"The Mounted Police did wonderfully in those days," Bishop Lloyd said. There was only a handful of them but they did splendid work. If the province of Canada were policed entirely by this body of men, the law would be carried out to-day as it was in the days of the Riel Rebellion.

Poundmaker, one of the Indians leaders of the early days, was a fine specimen of a man, he said. He was six feet, three in height and the speaker likened him to Julius Caesar or some of the early Roman senators. Poundmaker was not a peace-maker, as many people seem to think, the Bishop said, but was the centre of all the Indian young bloods on his reserve forty miles west of Battleford. He always had a great deal of sympathy with the Indians, Bishop Lloyd said, "but in those days they were deliberately malicious. He told of the wilful acts of damage committed by the Indians along the banks of the Battle River.

"Don't put off until next year," advised Mr. Crisford. "It is now that you have your opportunity. If you can find work for even an hour or two for either a man or a woman, telephone the Employment Service of Canada and they will put you in touch with those who need it. The telephone numbers are Garden 2411 for men and Empire 1981 for women."

FIVE FACE TRIAL
Port of Spain, Trinidad, April 6 (Canadian Press).—Police to-day were holding five proud owners of spurred game cocks following a raid on an arena. Five cock-fighters had been killed before the officers arrived.

NEW GASOLINE PLAN IN U.S.
Washington, April 6.—A comprehensive plan to stabilize petroleum refinery operations and balance gasoline supply with demand had been submitted to the industry to-day by the United States petroleum administrative board.

Harold Ickes, oil administrator, announced the new proposal, but emphasized he had neither approved nor disapproved it. It was indicated that in the event a majority of the industry accepts it, the Secretary of the Interior would approve and then it would become a substitute for the

Weddings

GRAVES-DAVIS

At St. John's Church on Tuesday evening, Canon F. A. P. Chadwick united in marriage May Elizabeth Evans, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Davis, of Revelstoke, and Mr. William Cyril Graves, third son of Mrs. E. A. Graves, of 772 Cloverdale Avenue, and the late Charles Gardner Graves.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a light blue tweed swaggar suit, with which she wore a grey silk turban and grey accessories and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. Her only attendant, Miss Sylvia Schofield, niece of the groom, wore a pale green suit, with a white silk hat and white accessories, her corsage bouquet being of pale pink carnations. Mr. Clifford Graves, brother of the groom, was best man. G. Jennings Burnett presided at the organ.

A small reception was held at the home of the groom's mother, at which only intimate friends and relatives were present. The young couple was assisted in receiving by the groom's mother. In a smart ensemble of wine-colored shadow satin with beige straw hat and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. The table was decorated with pale pink and white sweet peas, centred with a two-tiered wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graves left on the midnight boat for Vancouver en route to Revelstoke, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will make their home in Victoria.

TO BE GUEST AT CLUB RECEPTION

Small cans of salmon, tuna, tongue, various sweet cream cheese, peanut butter, commercial sandwich mixtures, mayonnaise, potato chips or straws, dainty and unusual kinds of crackers, pickles, and jellies will give one an emergency shelf from which to make a selection when the ice box is barren of all possibilities.

A lunch should contain some filling sandwiches of meat, eggs, cheese, fish, fruit, or nuts. The fillings may be moistened with mayonnaise, lemon juice, chutney, catsup, or sweet cream, according to their suitability. But moist the contents should be. One may vary the appeal of sandwiches by the use of brown bread, raisin bread, rye bread, and whole wheat bread. Trim the crusts to make the sandwich more dainty and appealing.

FRUITS AND PUDDINGS In addition to these stable and filling sandwiches there should be some fruits, some sweets, and if possible a thermos bottle containing ice cold milk or buttermilk. If cocoa is included, it should be ice cold in the thermos jug and heated at school. It is inadvisable from many standpoints to put hot milk drinks in a thermos bottle.

Oranges or apples should be peeled and quartered and wrapped in oiled paper, as should each individual kind of food. Include a metal cup with the lunch box, and slip a paper cup inside of it. The bread may thus be carried safely if the top is covered with oiled paper firmly held on with a rubber band. Just these small attentions to the cleanliness of each food will encourage the child to eat every crumb of his lunch. My leaflet, "Lunches For the School Child" may offer the mother some suggestions for varying lunch combinations. If you want a copy, send a self-addressed envelope with your request to me in care of this newspaper.

St. Alban's Ladies' Society—At a meeting of the St. Alban's Ladies' Society held recently it was decided to hold a whist drive in St. Barnabas Hall on Wednesday evening, April 11, at 8 o'clock. The whist drive will be held in the club-rooms from 8 till 10 o'clock.

Some of the best-known pioneer families of the province were represented at the New Thought Hall this morning when members of the Native Daughters of British Columbia assembled for the opening of the Grand Post business sessions. Mrs. Harold Beckwith, Grand Factor, is presiding.

Yesterday evening an informal gathering of the delegates to the Native Daughters of British Columbia held the annual convention of the Native Sons of B.C. was held in the Empress Hotel, following the executive meeting, when the representatives of the two groups spent a pleasant social hour together.

Following the impressive opening ceremonies of the Grand Post this morning at the New Thought Hall, the roll call was held and the officers and delegates were formally introduced to the gathering.

THE DELEGATES Among the delegates here for the season are: Mrs. Malcolm McTear, Mrs. George Fletcher, Miss Lona McKenzie, Mrs. J. W. Crossan, Mrs. W. H. Bone, Mrs. C. J. Trawford, Miss Maude McGregor, Mrs. T. W. Marindale, all of Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Lee, Murrayville; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. H. Bole, Belcarra; Mrs. George Rennie, Mrs. Percy Bailey, Miss Anne Archibald, Mrs. Amy B. Crook, Miss L. M. Mayes, Miss K. D. Jones, Miss K. Maynes, Miss Olive W. Broad, Mrs. Forley W. Jones, all of New Westminster; R. L. Mason, Mrs. W. H. Mundie, Miss Amy Barker, from Vancouver; Miss J. Nicholson, Lady Smith, Mrs. A. J. Simpson, and Miss J. Simpson of Langley.

Mrs. F. C. Webb, chief factor of Post No. 3, Victoria, in a graceful address welcomed the delegates on behalf of the local post, to which the visiting chief factors of the other posts responded.

J. P. Hampton Bole and J. Bennett, Grand Pastors of the Native Daughters, while in session gave inspiring addresses. This evening Victoria Post of the Native Sons and Native Daughters will entertain members of Grand Post Native Sons and Native Daughters at a banquet and ball at the Empress Hotel.

Two-year-old Laura Fox of Belfast, Ireland, recently won a silver medal for tap dancing.

LEAGUE ENDS ACTIVE YEAR

Catholic Women Review Many Accomplishments at Annual Meeting

Mrs. Wm. McManus President and Other Officers Re-elected

The annual meeting of Victoria Subdivision Catholic Women's League was held in the Parish Hall with Mrs. W. C. McManus, president, in the chair. Owing to the forthcoming annual convention of the league to be held in Victoria in June next, the same president and executive were re-elected for another term, with the exception of Mrs. E. M. Gavly, councillor retiring, in whose place Mrs. J. D. Kissinger was elected.

Reports for the year were submitted by the recording secretary, Miss M. MacKay; the corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. O'Neill; the treasurer, Mrs. G. Roberts; and a vote of thanks was passed to the press for generous publicity. These reports showed education, social service, and civic interests have received due attention, and national obligations have been met in the bursary or scholarship fund and accustomed support given to the Sisters of Service.

PRAISE WOMEN'S WORKROOM

Mrs. McManus in her address spoke with deep appreciation of the Women's Workroom, and of its valuable accomplishments. It was felt in connection with this enterprise that a change in the personnel of the committee representing Victoria Subdivision might make for a wider interest among members, and Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Scallan were appointed as representatives. Mrs. McManus spoke of the importance of the national convention and it was decided to hold the annual membership tea in the near future. The ready assistance given to all tag days through the interest of the tag convenor, and the children who so willingly respond to every good cause, was held a matter of satisfaction.

The recent death of Mrs. William Baylis evoked a standing vote of sympathy to her family, in their sad loss, and a tribute was warmly paid to her long years of devotion to the cause of the league, of which she was an old and valued member. Friends also recalled her zeal in the years preceding the formation of the league in Victoria, when as a member of the Altar Society of St. Andrew's Cathedral, she was deeply interested in works of charity and the general good of the community.

Mrs. Blair Reid voiced the thanks of the subdivision to the officers re-elected for their work of the past year and their willingness to continue for the forthcoming twelve months.

MONTHLY REPORTS

The usual monthly meeting followed. Reports of current expenditures and of correspondence and activities were heard. Mrs. Roberts gave an account of hospital visiting at the Jubilee, and Mrs. Bingham, with Mrs. Grant, for St. Joseph's. For the coming month Mrs. Bingham will continue at St. Joseph's and Mrs. Mahoney for the Jubilee. Miss O'Brien reported a needy case satisfactorily assisted. Mrs. J. D. Kissinger reported the result of the home cooking stall held on Saturday last and she and Mrs. Morry received the thanks of the members for their success in this undertaking.

It was announced that a social for members of Victoria Subdivision would be held on the evening of April 18, with Mrs. McManus, Mrs. de Blaquiere and Miss H. O'Brien convening. A committee comprising Mrs. G. Fraser, Mrs. M. E. O'Neill, Mrs. Scallan and Mrs. J. D. Kissinger will represent Victoria Subdivision C.W.L. in taking charge of the home cooking stall at St. Ann's Convent bazaar on April 25; members were invited to assist in making this and the bazaar in general the much to be desired success.

For you to feel healthy and happy, your liver must pour two pounds of bile into your bowels every day. Without that bile, trouble starts. Poor digestion. Slow elimination. Constipation. Headache. General uneasiness. How can you expect to clear up a situation like this completely with more bowel-moving salts, oil, mineral water, laxative candy or shaving gum, or roughage? They don't wake up your liver.

AFTER PLANS BRIDGE TEA

Arrangements were made at the home of the Sir James and Lady Chaplin yesterday afternoon for a bridge tea in Spencer's dining room on Thursday, May 3, in the regular monthly meeting held on that date. Mrs. A. M. 1528 Elford Street, was appointed convener, and members can make arrangements to be received by telephoning to her at 1528 Elford Street. Members stood in sympathy with Walter Burton in her recovery and bereavement in the death of her daughter, Mrs. Alan Kelly, also with Mrs. Curtis in the death of her husband. Mrs. E. B. McKicking, in greetings to the Grand Post Daughters and Sons now meeting in the city. The report of the luncheon on March 14 was satisfactory, many representatives of pioneer families having been present, and the co-operation of the staff of the Hudson's company was very much appreciated and contributed to the success of the affair. There were 135 guests. Decorations carried out by Miss Line Crease were much admired, and decorated place cards being sought after. Letters of thanks have been sent

Your Baby and Mine

Your Baby and Mine

BY MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MAKE SCHOOL LUNCH APPETIZING FOR CHILD

When a mother must prepare a boxed lunch each day for school children, she should not depend entirely upon left-overs as the basis of the repast. Meat gets dry and some left-overs are unappetizing when cold. The noon meal should not be so casual as to lack all tasteful and nourishing qualities.

SANDWICH FILLINGS

Small cans of salmon, tuna, tongue, various sweet cream cheese, peanut butter, commercial sandwich mixtures, mayonnaise, potato chips or straws, dainty and unusual kinds of crackers, pickles, and jellies will give one an emergency shelf from which to make a selection when the ice box is barren of all possibilities.

A lunch should contain some filling sandwiches of meat, eggs, cheese, fish, fruit, or nuts. The fillings may be moistened with mayonnaise, lemon juice, chutney, catsup, or sweet cream, according to their suitability. But moist the contents should be. One may vary the appeal of sandwiches by the use of brown bread, raisin bread, rye bread, and whole wheat bread. Trim the crusts to make the sandwich more dainty and appealing.

FRUITS AND PUDDINGS

In addition to these stable and filling sandwiches there should be some fruits, some sweets, and if possible a thermos bottle containing ice cold milk or buttermilk. If cocoa is included, it should be ice cold in the thermos jug and heated at school. It is inadvisable from many standpoints to put hot milk drinks in a thermos bottle.

Oranges or apples should be peeled and quartered and wrapped in oiled paper, as should each individual kind of food. Include a metal cup with the lunch box, and slip a paper cup inside of it. The bread may thus be carried safely if the top is covered with oiled paper firmly held on with a rubber band. Just these small attentions to the cleanliness of each food will encourage the child to eat every crumb of his lunch. My leaflet, "Lunches For the School Child" may offer the mother some suggestions for varying lunch combinations. If you want a copy, send a self-addressed envelope with your request to me in care of this newspaper.

St. Alban's Ladies' Society—At a meeting of the St. Alban's Ladies' Society held recently it was decided to hold a whist drive in St. Barnabas Hall on Wednesday evening, April 11, at 8 o'clock. The whist drive will be held in the club-rooms from 8 till 10 o'clock.

Graduation Ceremony Held at St. Joseph's

The musical programme comprised vocal solos by Mrs. Styles Sehl, accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Ward, string quartette selections by Miss M. Philip, Mr. S. Davey, Capt. Darling and Mr. R. Cooper, and vocal solos by Mr. D. C. Hughes, accompanied by Mrs. Hughes.

The nurses' part of the programme was charmingly carried out in the reading of the valedictory by Miss Muriel Ahler, and the pronouncing in union of the Florence Nightingale pledge, and the singing of the school song, "Loyal and True."

Rev. Gerald C. Murray, C.S.S., R.D.D., Bishop of Victoria, whose departure from Victoria was regretted by the speakers of the evening, then summed up the speeches of his predecessors on the programme, and did so in a delightfully humorous vein. He congratulated the nurses upon their very excellent equipment for the battle of life and expressed his faith that they would hold high the standard and ideals of the institution to which they owed so much of their good grounding in their noble purpose of a loving ministry.

Following the graduating exercises refreshments were served in the Nurses' Home, and an informal dance was much enjoyed by the nurses and their friends.

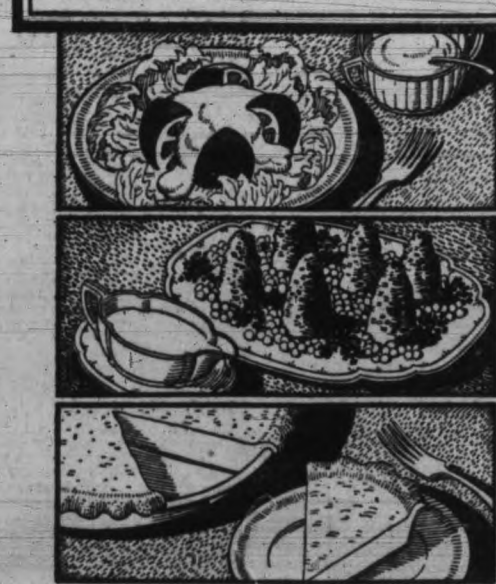

Junior Macabees Daffodil Tea—The Junior Macabees will hold a daffodil tea to-morrow afternoon from 2 till 6 o'clock in the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street. An attractive musical programme has been arranged.

Borden's ST. CHARLES MILK

MADE IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

CONDENSARY, SOUTH SUMAS

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP 2 slices onion, 1 stalk celery, 2 cups stewed or canned tomatoes, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1 recipe Borden's Cream Foundation. Simmer chopped onion, chopped celery, tomatoes, minced parsley and seasonings with water 20 minutes or until very soft. Force through pure sieve. Blend gradually with Borden's Cream Foundation (see recipe below). Reheat. May be garnished with whipped cream. Serves eight.

CREAM FOUNDATION FOR SOUPS 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/4 cups St. Charles Milk, 1/2 cups water or white stock. Melt butter in double boiler. Add flour and seasonings. Blend thoroughly. Add St. Charles Milk and water slowly, stirring until mixture thickens. Allow to cook ten minutes longer, stirring occasionally.

To this Cream Foundation may be added two cups vegetable puree or pulp of meat or fish prepared in the following way: Cook vegetables, meat or fish until tender. Force through pure sieve and return to water in which cooked. After blending with Borden's Cream Foundation, bring to boiling point. Beat with an egg beater, to prevent skin forming on top and serve.

NOTE: For extra richness, a half cup more of St. Charles Milk may be added just before serving. A beaten egg yolk stirred in at the same time also adds to the attractiveness of the soup.

EGGLESS MAYONNAISE SALAD DRESSING 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1/2 cup vinegar, 3 tablespoons St. Charles Milk, 1/2 cup salad oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar or 1 tablespoon vinegar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Thoroughly mix dry ingredients. Add St. Charles Milk and blend thoroughly. Beat in salad oil gradually. Add vinegar or vinegar and lemon juice, beating until mixture is smooth. Makes one cup.

CROQUETTES 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion, 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup St. Charles Milk, 1/2 cup water or white stock, 2 egg yolks, 1 1/2 cups chopped cooked meat, 1 teaspoon minced parsley. Cook finely chopped onion in butter 5 minutes. Add flour and seasonings. Blend. Add gradually St. Charles Milk and water or stock. Blend thoroughly. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add slightly-beaten egg yolks. Cook two minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. Add chopped meat and parsley. Turn mixture on plate. Chill thoroughly. Shape. Roll in beaten egg, blended with a little cold water; then in sifted dry bread crumbs. Fry in hot fat (375°-400°) using a frying basket. Serves six.

CUSTARD PIE 1 1/2 cups St. Charles Milk, 1 1/2 cups water, 4 eggs, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, unbaked pie crust (9 inch), grating of nutmeg. Blend St. Charles Milk, water, slightly beaten eggs, sugar and salt together. Line pie tin with unbaked pie crust. Build up fluted edge. Pour in filling. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in a hot oven (400°) to set edge. Decrease heat and bake about 40 minutes in slow oven (300°). A knife blade inserted will come out clean when custard is done.

POPULAR PAIR AT DOMINION

Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable Have Leading Roles in "It Happened One Night"

Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable, two of Hollywood's most popular stars, are teamed together for the first time in the Columbia production, "It Happened One Night," which is at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

Gable skyrocketed to fame a couple of years ago following his appearance with Norma Shearer in "A Free Soul," and overnight became the most popular male star on the screen. Thousands upon thousands of fan letters poured into the studios, and, as a result, he was given roles with many of the most famous female stars on the screen.

He appeared with Shearer again in "Strange Interlude," and with Joan Crawford in "Dance Fools, Dance," "Possessed," and most recently in

"Dancing Lady." He was co-starred with Jean Harlow in "Red Dust" and in "Hold Your Man," with Helen Hayes in "White Sister," and with Greta Garbo in "Susan Lennox." Miss Colbert's stardom and popularity is based upon her marvelous work in such productions as "Sign of the Cross," "The Torch Singer," "Three Corners Moon," "I Cover the Waterfront," and "The Smiling Lieutenant," and is now equal to that of the top-notch feminine stars of the cinema capital.

STAGE SHOW AT EMPIRE

Clever Artists Combine With Sally O'Neil in "Sixteen Fathoms Deep"

On the Empire Theatre stage to-day Don Mills and his company of singing and dancing artists will present comedy entertainment "Sixteen Fathoms Deep," one of the great comedy teams on the stage are among the featured turns, supported by such well-known names as Bernice Allen, Jug Lorenz, Bobbie Burns, Frank Miller, Don Mills and Bing Gordon. The Four Gondoliers can be termed a show in themselves with a clever act of comedy and novelty. On the screen is Sally O'Neil in "Sixteen Fathoms Deep." Aside from wanting to wear high-heeled shoes, which was her secret childhood desire, Sally O'Neil's great ambition was to meet the late Mabel Normand and curl her hair. Sally thought that if she could just get the job of curling Miss Normand's hair, that she was sure to embark on a successful motion picture career. Her picture opportunity did not come in just that way, however, as Marshall Neilan saw her while she was still in a convent in New York and gave her the lead in "Mike," when she was only fifteen years old.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Red flannels are greatly in demand at the Los Angeles Ostich Farm these days by the long-legged, ungainly birds who have "given their all" for the sake of art. Virtually every ostrich in the place is qualified for instant admission to the nudist colony at Lake Elsinore, California, and no questions asked, or answered—because of the recent demand for ostrich feathers at the First National studio.

Busy Berkeley, dance director, needed the feathers to stage a spectacular number, featuring 200 fan dancers, in "Fashions of 1934," the picture now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Thelma Todd, who has an important role opposite Joe E. Brown in his latest First National comedy, "Son of a Sailor," now at the Columbia Theatre, is another Hollywood player who won a chance in the movies by the way of a beauty contest. After graduating from Lowell Normal School she became a teacher in the primary schools of Lawrence, Mass. She entered a local beauty contest just for the fun of it and won. The winner was given a small role in a picture, but this role led to a long term movie contract, with more and more important roles.

"Son Of Kong" Coming Here

"Son of Kong," RKO-Radio's sequel to "King Kong," coming to the Capitol Theatre to-morrow, has struck a stronger note of public appeal than its sensational predecessor. The new adventure spectacle includes a powerful romance between two of its human characters, and a menacing monster that reveals a heart of gold.

Many will remember the terrific punch of the original production, its terrific sequences—and its gigantic ape fascinated with a mortal girl.

According to Ernest B. Schoedsack, who directed "King Kong" and who holds the same post for "Son of Kong," the sequel, the terrors dominating the first fantasy have been given a different application in the sequel, the plot of which gets down to a more romantic basis.

"Son of Kong," it is said, has a more thrilling but they are treated in a more sympathetic theme than in "King Kong."

Deaths due to cancer totaled 84; tuberculosis accounted for 26; motor accidents took a toll of 3 lives.

Purchase of a quantity of standard works equipment, to cost $175.50, was authorized by the Sanich Council yesterday evening.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Compensation of $3 for the loss of a lamb killed by dogs was allowed E. H. Street, Beckwith Avenue, by the Sanich Council yesterday evening.

When he pleaded guilty to a charge of not having his car equipped with an exhaust muffler, H. G. Adams was fined $5 in the City Police Court this morning.

Theft of an overcoat from a car parked outside the Sons of Canada Hall, between 10 o'clock last night and 1 o'clock this morning was reported to the city police by D. Bradley, 130 St. Lawrence Street.

Oak Bay police this afternoon located a McLaughlin Buick coach that was stolen yesterday evening while parked on Cranmore Road. The car belongs to J. R. Sharp, 1613 Elgin Road, and was found on Richmond Road near the Normal School.

A wrist watch and other properties were stolen from the home of George Church, 2320 Howard Street, yesterday evening between 6 to 11.10 o'clock, according to a police report. Investigation disclosed entrance was gained with a pass key through the back door.

St. Saviour's Men's Auxiliary old times dance on Tuesday evening was a great success. The hall had been beautifully decorated with spring flowers. Arrangements were made to hold another dance on Tuesday, April 17. The men have arranged to give a lantern exhibition on Tuesday, April 10, in the parish hall at 8.15 p.m. These slides will be both instructive and amusing.

A lantern lecture of unusual interest will be given at the Central Baptist Church on Wednesday evening next at 8 o'clock, when Missionary George Thomas, deputy secretary of the Unvangelized Mission, will show pictures setting forth the conditions and claims of some of the unvangelized mission fields. Mr. Thomas has recently been at the Prairie Bible Institute, Three Hills, where his ministry was highly appreciated, and all in Victoria interested in missions are invited to hear him.

Following the recent case and of the epidemic of mild scarlet fever, the city was almost free of disease to-day. During the current week, but one case of scarlet fever has been reported, while last week two cases of chickenpox were the only records made in the health department's books.

NO SPREAD OF SMALLPOX HERE

With the incubation period over and no further developments noted among direct contacts in Victoria, Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, to-day expressed the belief all chance of contagion from the recent fatal smallpox case here had disappeared.

According to health authorities, danger of the disease breaking out through contacts with an infected person continues for two weeks. Following that period, there is little menace of its reappearance through contact.

THE Lone Wolf's Son

By Louis Joseph Vance

"There were two, a boy who was seven years old, a girl who was four, when they perished with their mother in the sack of Louvain. It so happened that I was in Paris when war was declared. When at length I managed to break through the lines, I even had trouble finding a neighbor who could lead me to their graves. By my second marriage I had no children. So, as I say, I am alone now," Lanyard wound up, "and find my self tedious company, as I am afraid you must."

"Any time that happens, I'll tell you."

Now Lanyard hadn't forgotten any of the dodges at which the Lone Wolf had been adept and was hardly to be dumfounded by one which he could readily have duplicated. It was recollection from a violent psychic shock that sent him on, to bring up with disconnected eyes questioning the portrait of himself at middle age which the glass above his cabin washstand pictured. All a-tremble, he whose unshakable nerves had been his secret boast.

For it had been for a space his lot to look upon himself in the pride of his youth, upon a reversion of the Lone Wolf at the zenith of a career that stood still unparalleled in criminal annals. As if in entering that passageway he had crossed an unmarked threshold and in the mad perspectives of a realm where time stood still had met his own lost youth again. The stare that questioned and searched again the lineaments of the mirrored Lanyard saw them, every one, a prototype of the younger man's. Yet Lanyard questioned whether any vision unbiased by his memories would see the resemblance that in his sight was so bold. If both had the same firm yet mobile mouth, his had grown sad and cynical while the other's was generous still and gay; if both could boast the same dark eyes, deep-set, one pair was a little weary, the other quick with unquenched nerve. And so with every other feature—his hair thinned out and dusted with snow, the other's hair and cheeky lustrous, his face graven with deep lines, its temples hollowed, the other's rounded and innocent of crow's feet.

Had he, then, come blindly upon a younger brother—or, possibly, some collateral of his untraceable paternity? Or might the likeness by any chance be owing to a closer kinship still. It demanded an effort of will to put that wild thought by and get on with his dressing. To wear a man and one who felt himself measurably older who tardily presented himself in the dining-salon to claim a place at the captain's table and find it between two ladies, one whose becomingly bobbed white hair marked her at sight as the most interesting woman of his acquaintance, and one with hair as auburn gold and wide brown eyes who was to prove in his esteem, the most winsome of her generation.

The look askance which the first—Mrs. Innes Crozier of New York—turned upon Lanyard promptly kindled with the kindest spirit. "How perfectly lovely! Here I've been sitting all over gooseflesh, monsieur, for fear you'd turn out to be either a junior executive of big business or some kind of a swindler, going back to his roost in a Fifth Avenue club window—or heaven save us!—what have you?"

"Madame is gracious to think a simple tradesman better company," Lanyard responded with a bow. "Hark to the man! 'Simple tradesman' indeed! Mrs. Crozier dimpled on him and wagged her fine white head over the hypocrite. "As if you hadn't, simply by putting the weight of your expert knowledge behind it, pushed Delibes into the first place in the last few years—and weren't vain as Lucifer about it! Fennos, sweet!" she called, leaning forward to look past Lanyard. "This is the same Monsieur Lanyard whom you have heard me abuse behind his back so often. Don't be taken in by his deceptiveness. He is a man of taste, jewels and paintings than any man living, and has the nerve to call himself a 'simple tradesman'!"

Uncle Wiggily's Wakeful Night

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

When Uncle Wiggily caught and brought home a flying fish, as told you in the story last night, his wife was very much surprised, just as the rabbit gentleman thought she would be.

"Though, really, said Mrs. Longears to his wife who, with Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, was looking at the flying fish. "Really, I brought the fish home for the children, than for you, my dear. Though, of course, sweetheart, he went on, still speaking to his rabbit wife, "I want you to enjoy the fish as much as our little bunnies will."

"Thank you, I am sure I shall," laughed Mrs. Longears. "But you had better get this fish in a bowl of water. The children will soon be home from school. Besides, I don't believe this fish likes being out of water so long. Water is the place for fish just as the air is the place for birds, but then this fish is half bird. So really I don't know where he belongs."

"Don't worry about me, folks," spoke the flying fish, who was a jolly chap. "I am an odd creature. Part of the time I live in the water and part of the time in the air."

"How strange," murmured Nurse Jane. "Are there really fishes that fly?"

"Watch this one!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Go ahead and bowl for Nurse Jane," he said. "Please!"

"Oh, all right," said the fish, and up he flew from the dining-room table, where Uncle Wiggily had put him after having taken him from the overcoat pocket in which he was brought from the brook."

Now I want you children to know that there are really flying fishes that live in the sea and they really pop up out of the waves and go flying or sailing for quite some distances in the air. The wings of these real flying fish are more like fins than wings, but when they are all flying fishes in the sea can fly like the one Uncle Wiggily caught. But this
